Directive for deliverers, carriers and customers

It is not allowed to trespass on our warehouse before being instructed by our stuff.
For our whole property the German road traffic regulations (StVO) are valid.
Our transportation facilities such as forklifts and cranes have generally the right of way.

Each truck driver has to wear protective clothing (helmet, shoes and goggles) and has to report to our foreman at first.
The foreman is wearing a green helmet.
Inside our warehouse the footpaths, that have to be used by each truck driver, are marked. The truck driver has to pay attention to our transportation facilities and to floating loads.
While loading the instructions the truck driver has to pay regard to our loading stuff's instructions. Mats to avoid the sliding of the load, tension belts, chains and tensioning ropes will be used to fix the load on the truck.
When the load is fixed completely our stuff will make photos of it. After that we give the freight documents back to the driver.
